STATEMENT.

God having so graciously smiled upon us as a people, and made us the recipients of so many undeserved benedictions, and favored us with the Gospel of His dear Son, which proves to be power unto salvation from the guilt and power of sin; we therefore, the holiness people of North Carolina do enter into covenant with one another and with God to be used of Him in the promulgation of the doctrine of regeneration, which concludes an absolvment from all actual sins and a renewal of the nature; and entire sanctification, which is an instantaneous work of grace, subsequent to regeneration, whereby inbred sin is purged from the believer's heart, and he is endued with power by the baptism of the Holy Ghost and fire.

We recognize the Holy Ghost as the teacher and the Holy Bible as the standard text book.

INTRODUCTION.

To the People of North Carolina and Elsewhere, Greeting;

We, the Holiness Convention of North Carolina come to you as an organized body in the name of Jehovah, and with the Gospel of Christ crying, "peace on earth, good will toward men." Our object is to pull down the strong holds of sin, drive back the enemies of the cross, raise the blood-stained banner in every community, and proclaim victory in the name of Christ.

Disdaining public opinion, formalism and popery we purpose to press on to preach the truth to every creature and help to usher in the millennial age.

Since Jesus is the Light before whom the shadows of darkness recede, then would we carry Him to every home that sorrow and sadness, divisions and strife, and misunderstandings may flee away, and they become homes of prayer, peace, union, love and righteousness.

To this end we ask you to receive us, and for this end we invite the co-operation of all God loving, God-serving and God-fearing people.

We, as a body, do not endorse every peculiar idea advanced by holiness adherents, so please do not charge the Convention with the responsibility. We are united on the doctrine of salvation and sanctification.
